

PUBLIC LEDGER

SIXTH YEAR.

MAYSVILLE, KY., THURSDAY, JANUARY 28, 1897.

ONE CENT.

If you have friends visiting you, or if you are going away on a visit, please drop us a note to that effect.

Mr. James N. Kirk returned last night from Norfolk, Va.

Mr. M. Davis arrived home today from a tour of the West.

Miss Minnie Pleg of Ripley is the guest of Mrs. Lillie Weiland.

Two lives were lost by a hotel fire at Fort Smith, Ark., which caused a loss of $40,000.

The new Methodist Church at Morehead will be dedicated next Sunday by Rev. H. O. Moore.

Miss Mary P. Chambers announces herself in today's LEDGER as a candidate for County Superintendent of Public Schools.

Miss Chambers comes from one of the oldest and most respected families of Mason, and is one of the best educated and most widely known ladies of the county.

Her past experience with school work qualifies her for the position to which she aspires, and should she receive the nomination would make a most faithful official.

ANOTHER ADVENTURER!

Barnstomer Bishop Comes to Grief Early This Morning.

ARRESTED FOR KIDNAPING A CHILD.

Another has come, and saw, and partially conquered—and gone with "brucelita" on his wrist.

Some weeks ago a fellow giving his name as Charles Bishop swooped down upon our devoted city.

He had the proverbial glib tongue and said he was an Actor.

With him was a pretty little Miss, about 15 years of age.

She, he said, was his wife, and she was an Actorine, programmed as "Mrs. Madge Bishop."

Her right name is Mabel Stanton, and her parents are well-to-do residents of Adrian, Mich.

Soon after his arrival, Barnstomer Bishop began working upon the susceptibilities of our people, endeavoring to get several organizations of ladies enlisted in his enterprise.

He first tried the Daughters of Rebekah, representing that if they would join him in getting up an entertainment at the Opera-house both parties could make considerable money.

These ladies, however, soon saw that they would have to bear the burden of the work—and give the lion's share of the undertaking to Bishop.

Therefore, they said "Nix" with a big boldness N.

He then tried the ladies of the Episcopal Guild, where he also met a respectful declination.

Finally he prevailed upon the Redmen to join him, and the entertainment is billed for this evening.

[Notwithstanding what follows, however, the entertainment will come off as announced.—EDITOR LEDGER.]

Now to the sequel.

At 10:46 last night an officer arrived from Adrian.

He was commissioned to arrest Charles Bishop on a charge of kidnaping the girl who was with him.

At about 2 o'clock this morning Bishop was transferred from his bed at a private boarding-house and furnished with less expensive lodgings at the County Jail.

The young Miss was permitted to remain at the boarding-house.

At 8:46 this morning a cab conveyed the Michigan officer and Bishop and his pretended wife to the C. and O. West-bound train, and at this writing they are well on their way to the Northwest, where the thermometer is dancing below zero, but where Bishop will probably find it hot enough.

MAYSVILLE WEATHER.

What We May Expect For the Next Twenty-Four Hours.

THE LEDGER'S WEATHER SIGNALS.

White star—CLEAR SKY.

Blue—BRAIN OF SNOW.

With black above—WIND WARREN STORM.

If black above—COLDEN—WILL BE.

Chilled—WATER—ON ORDER WILL BE.

For the 24 hours forecast is made for a 24-hour period ending at 11 o'clock.

Chopped hands and faces healed by using Chenoweth's Cream Lotion. Try it.

Mrs. J. H. Thomas continues very low at Danville, and her family has abandoned all hope.

Justin Martin of Ball county, who is 77 years old, married Malinda Strubbe, aged 16.

Mrs. Mary E. McKibben has bought a house on Fifth street from A. N. Sapp for $1,000.

Mr. Eli C. Pegue and Miss Scott Laytham, both of this county, married today at Mayfield.

In a fight in a gambling-house at Frankfort, Ky. Williams cut Patric Knight's throat from ear to ear.

Rev. F. M. Tindler of Mayfield will assist Rev. R. H. Dodson in a protracted meeting at New Richmond.

An American Missionary in Bombay states that not a single native Christian has been struck by the plague.

Lewis K. Parry has his Family Grocery now open, with an entirely new stock, at 230 Market street. Goods delivered promptly to any part of the city.

It develops that the securities turned over to the Newport First National Bank by the Cashier, and said to be worth $102,000, in reality does not represent over $35,000.

The Regent of the "Valentine Poets" Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution is anxious to have every daughter meet with her on Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Business of importance.

The reports from Deputy Collector Robert L. Baldwin are of a more encouraging nature. He received early last night, and the symptoms this morning are more favorable.

C. B. Avey, the man who some time ago had a laundry in this city, was "hoaxed up" before Chief Dietrich at Cincinnati for a somewhat shady transaction with a rural merchant. Avey says everything was straight; the Chief says the deal was "irregular."

Next to the Plumber comes the man. That jolly, happy soul, who takes your order smilingly, and sends a part of it.

The Rev. E. L. Howell, formerly of this city, preached the funeral sermon of the late Hon. Albert S. Willis, United States Minister to Hawaii. The services were held at the Christian Church, Fourth and Walnut, Louisville, of which Mr. Willis was a member. Rev. Powell was assisted by the Rev. Reverly Estill of the Episcopal Church, to which Mrs. Willis belongs.

How to Prevent Water-Backs in Ranges From Freezing and Bursting.

During every cold spell coal-burners house-keepers are likely to suffer from bursting water-backs in ranges.

And often there are explosions doing great damage and endangering life.

Now, it is a very easy matter to keep the water-backs in the ranges from freezing if a little judgment is used.

It is usually the case that when the "engineer" finds the range in the kitchen is out of working order she begins at once to build a hot fire as possible "in order to melt the ice in the water-back."

But this is where they make their mistake. When it is discovered that the range is out of order the person operating it should build as small a fire as possible, so that it may merely warm the range.

In this way the rapid formation of steam will be avoided and the frozen parts will soon thaw out.

On the other hand, when the steam forms rapidly the water-backs are sure to burst.

OPERA-HOUSE TONIGHT!

The Redmen's Entertainment Will Take Place This Evening All-the-Same.

Notwithstanding the somewhat sudden and unexpectedly unexpected departure from the city of Mr. Charles Bishop the Actorine, the Redmen's entertainment will take place at the Opera-house this evening on schedule time.

The friends of the Order are assured of an enjoyable evening and an adequate return for their money.

We bespeak a liberal patronage for the members, who have worked hard to deserve it.

WAS ARRESTED HERE.

Special Policeman Purnell Captures a Man Wanted to Rowan County.

O. A. Kendall was Deputy Marshal of Farmers, a small settlement on the C. and O. Railroad in Rowan county.

Christmas Day one of the residents, Monroe Padgett, got on a high horse.

Kendall arrested him and put him in the coop used as a calaboose.

During the night Padgett managed to get free to the shambles, and both it and himself were burned up.

This aroused a good deal of indignation, a large volume of which was directed against Kendall, but for what good reason does not appear.

However, he was charged with negligently causing the death of Padgett, and Judge Carey issued a warrant for his arrest.

The feeling against Kendall ran so high that he sought safety by leaving town, proclaiming all the time that he was innocent of any crime.

Mr. Kendall came to this city Monday night, and Tuesday afternoon he was arrested by Special Policeman Purnell on the warrant of Judge Carey.

Chief Ort yesterday took the prisoner to Morehead.

After his arrest, Mr. Kendall expressed the belief that the warrant was only a plan to get him back to Rowan county, where he feared mob violence.

The outcome will be watched with interest.

Mrs. Purnell has sued the town of Farmers for $10,000 damages, alleging negligence and carelessness on the part of the town officers for allowing her husband to burn to death.

Mr. Kendall is known as "Bentley" and he formerly lived in Fleming.

Interesting Items That Every Man in Mayville Should Read.

The Board of Directors and the members of the Membership Committee are requested to meet in the Y. M. C. A. Par for this (Thursday) afternoon at 4:30 o'clock sharp. Business of importance will be transacted.

All men—whether they are members or not—who desire the benefits of the Bible training class, mention of which was made in these columns last week, are cordially invited to meet at the rooms this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

There seems to be an impression among many young men of our city that the privileges of the Young Men's Christian Association are altogether for members and that other than members are not welcome. This is emphatically wrong.

Of course, there are many of these privileges, such as the gymnasium, bath, etc., that must be kept for those who pay the regular membership fee, but the reading room is open and free to all young men, and old men, too, if they desire its use—and visitors will also be cordially welcomed in the reception room, where the various games are played, and in the members' parlor at any time. While it is hoped that all who possibly can will join the Association, the dues of which are so small compared with the numerous benefits afforded,—yet no one will ever be deterred from the local Y. M. C. A. rooms and the use of the privileges mentioned above, because he may not be a member.

The Association is in no sense a select club, and its doors are open every week day to the young men of our city, who will be most cordially welcomed whenever they may choose to visit the rooms.

ROMANTIC ELOPEMENT.

The Bride the Seventh of the Family Married in the Same Way.

Matrimonial alliances wherein the principals are slopers and hotel parlors the Moxes of their float try not are not uncommon in Cincinnati.

But the one performed Tuesday by the Rev. A. M. Harrold in the parlors of the Palace, while being characterized by both these elements, is entitled to distinction in other ways unusually romantic.

The happy principals were Miss Tina Clarke and Mr. C. Dale of Mt. Sterling. They arrived over the Cincinnati South shortly before noon, went for the Minister, were united at the noon hour, and were on their way back home by 2 o'clock.

The ceremony was witnessed by Mr. H. Judy of Mt. Sterling, the husband of one of the bride's sisters, who eloped seven months ago, and Mr. Robert E. Lee, formerly of this city, now Clark at the Palace.

But here is the interesting feature of affair. Miss Clarke—who was—has eleven brothers and sisters, and seven are married—three sisters and four brothers.

All three, with the single exception of one—a sister—have eloped.

This one was married at home, a fine stock farm about six miles from Mt. Sterling.

The latest to leave the parental displeasure is a tall brunette, with large black eyes and a skin not rivaled outside the boundaries of Bluegrassdom.

She said frankly that she expected a storm when she got home, but that "doesn't count."

She left Monday night, stealing out late to meet her future bride, and together they rode to Mt. Sterling, where she was received by a sister of her husband.

CAPTAIN GRANNAN'S DIVORCE

The Troubles of the Cincinnati Detective Aired in the Courts.

BOTH WELL KNOWN IN THIS CITY.

Captain J. C. Grannan, the celebrated Cincinnati Detective, is quite well known in this city, as is also Mrs. Grannan, who was a daughter of James Davis, an old-time Mayville man.

Far some time past the couple had not gotten along pleasantly, and several weeks ago the Captain filed suit for divorce.

The wife, Mrs. Mary D. Grannan, filed counter action of marital infidelity against the Captain, naming as co-respondent a typewriter in his office named Lillie Heckstedt.

The case is now on trial before Judge Wright.

According to the Captain's statement on the stand he and Mrs. Grannan had not been living as husband and wife for three years and a half, but their first trouble dated back about nine years, when he said she became jealous of a young music student who boarded with them. They never occupied the same room after that.

The cause of the final separation, in July, 1896, was given with much dramatic force by Captain Grannan. His son Louis, who sat close beside his mother, was the moving cause of that separation.

The Captain had a young lady clerk of whom the son was evidently suspicious, and one evening when the Captain was in the clerk's room with her attending to some business, the door of their office in Pike's Building was forced with violence.

He ran to see what caused it, and found his son there, who said he had done it. The Captain said this had happened twice before, and he then forbade his son any access to his office. When he went home he told his wife about it, and she said she knew all about the matter, that Louis had told her that he found him and his clerk in compromising relations.

Here Judge Wright asked Captain Grannan what he said to his son for making such a charge against him.

He said he said nothing to him.

The Court appeared surprised and asked him why he allowed such a charge by his son without holding him to account for it.

The Captain said that such charges against him were of such frequent occurrence that he had adopted a policy of nonresistance.

On cross examination the Captain was asked his age. He declined to answer. The Court ordered him to answer, and he said he would be 61 in June next. He admitted he had been married before, and that his former wife obtained a divorce from him while he was in the Army. He understood, although he was not married with children, that it was for adultery.

The Captain denied having tried to induce a servant girl to leave the house and permit him to take a room for her, that she was too small and delicate for house hold work. The claim is that his wife overheard this proposition, and from that time refused cohabitation with him.

The name of Ida Smith, the Toledo woman who answered the letters of Kimball, alias Lavelle, and was induced by him to lead that adventurer a sum of money, which afterward led to his arrest and conviction, was also brought into the case, but he claimed she was his client, and was only one of a number of innocent women wrongfully suspected by his wife. A letter of hers was introduced, by which she sent a number of presents to him for his kindness and good advice to her, and sent her regards to himself and Mrs. Grannan and the family.

Several other witnesses were examined, and it developed that many of the witnesses called by the plaintiff had been suborned also by the defendant and most of the testimony given by them was favorable to the cause of Mrs. Grannan, which fact caused considerable consternation in the ranks of the counsel for the plaintiff.

The evidence adduced made it appear that rather sensational developments may be looked for, in that substantiation of the charges of acts of extreme cruelty began to appear, the same being given by the witnesses suborned first by the plaintiff and later by the defendant.

Cool wagons and ice wagons came near monopolizing the streets yesterday—the former laden with something to keep you warm now, and the latter with something to keep you cool next summer.

FLOTSAM—JETSAM—LIGAN!

SEVEN NOTES FROM NATURE'S GREAT HIGHWAY.

The Jesuit with a low of empties is laid up at the lower grade.

The river yesterday was filled with huge floes of ice. Both banks are lined with solid ice, and the still water caused by the wharfboat and coal landings is frozen hard.

The principal reason for suspending operations seems to be in the difficulty experienced in making landings on account of the heavy ice obstructing both banks of the river.

The boats operating out of this port are laid up at the following points: The Keystone State at Pittsburgh, Hudson and Bonanza at Ashland, Henry M. Stanley in Licking River, Virginia, Shelby and Claver at Cincinnati.

Many points in the upper Ohio river are reported frozen over, and both Kanawha rivers are also blocked with ice. The Big Sandy river was putting out ice slowly Tuesday, but yesterday it stopped, and that stream is now blocked off.

Navigation is entirely suspended at this port, with the single exception of the ferryboat Lorraine, which is kept busy breaking the ice from the wharfboat and the ferry landing, and all the packets running out of here have been laid up to await developments.

The following is the standing of the river from headwaters to this point up to 12 o'clock last night:

Old City, 19, falling.
Pittsburgh, 27, falling.
Davis Island Dam, 45, stationary.
Wheeling, 59, falling.
Parkersburg, 8, falling.
Hinton, 15, falling.
Charleston, 43, falling.
Point Pleasant, 74, falling.
Chattanooga, 114, falling.
Perrysburg, 123, falling.

TERRIFIC FIRE.

Conflagration Originates in a Malt House, Cincinnati.

Whole Block on Front, Between Race and Vine Streets, Doomed.

Firemen Fight Against Heavy Odds—At 1 o'clock the Fire was Out of Control—Loss Will Foot Up About $400,000—Many Families Homeless

CINCINNATI, Jan. 28.—At precisely 1 o'clock an alarm from Box 19 announced a fire in the great malt house of Herman Goepfer & Co., on Commerce street.

It is supposed to have originated in the engine room, and so threatening was the aspect when Marshal Archibald arrived that a "ten blow" was sounded.

Commerce street is such a narrow thoroughfare, and so covered was it with fire and smoke, that it was with the greatest effort that the firemen got to the fire at all. Finally entrance was effected by burning in doors of the Commerce street front and also of the alley side on the west of the building, and a dozen streams of water were sent spraying upon the burning mill.

The fire was a mean one to handle not only on account of the zero weather, but because of the nature of the burning grain the smoke was so intense that it was with difficulty that the men could approach the mill. Very little flame was visible. It was a smoke.

At 3:30 Thursday morning it was almost certain that the entire stock house of Goepfer & Co. would be ruined by smoke and water, if not destroyed by flame.

Ten minutes later the fire got away from the department, and in a moment no longer did it seem to be burning from windows and the roof. It was then seen that the building, a great airy structure, was wrecked, and others all around were threatened.

Immediately in the rear of the malt house is the cordage establishment of Overman & Schraider. This at 3:45 seemed almost certain to go with the malt house. On the east and south of the malt house, a number of wholesale grocery establishments and whisky warehouses that were in the greatest danger.

Adjoining the cordage establishment on the east was the brokerage and commission house of W. W. Blair & Co., No. 13, and next at No. 11 is the cotton and peanut house of Mellem, Brown & Co. Both are doomed.

On Vine street the rear of the commission house of Hill & Co., No. 39, and the rear of the cracker and fancy grocery of John J. Perkins & Co., are also doomed.

The indication are that the entire block will go.

At 3:45 an alarm from box 384, at Third and Walnut, in the heart of the banking district, gave a fresh alarm to the firemen, who already had their hands full a couple of blocks to the southwest. This fortunately was false.

From Mellem, Brown & Co.'s the flames were communicated to a vacant furniture warehouse, No. 9 and to John Straun & Co.'s ice block house, No. 10, and the Cincinnati Transfer company, at the corner of Vine and Second.

On Vine street, south of the Transfer Co., No. 53, was the residence of the Co.'s salt house, then C. H. Reinhardt & Co., No. 55, and then the A. E. E. E. Co., No. 56, and then to the Perkins and Palmer & Hill establishments already mentioned.

The flames crossed Commerce street and attacked the rear of the Kerr Grocery Co.'s building, on the southwest corner of Commerce and Vine, and also the Gosper malt house on the south of Commerce street.

The following list of firms burned out: Herman Goepfer & Co., Overman & Schraider, W. W. Blair & Co., Mellem, Brown & Co., Furniture Warehouse Co., John Reinhardt & Co., the Cincinnati Transfer Co., C. H. Reinhardt & Co., C. M. Holloway & Co., Palmer, Hill & Co., A. E. Meule & Co., John J. Perkins & Co., John J. Perkins & Co., The Kerr Grocery Co. The loss will aggregate $400,000.

All during the raging of the fire about her place, Mrs. Louis Jung, on the southwest corner of Second and Vine, served hot coffee to the firemen and newspaper boys. She was much worried about the danger to her place, but that did not interfere with her charity.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The National Convention Adopts a Series of Resolutions.

Favors the Extension of the American Export Trade.

We Should Take the Lead in Developing the Foreign Markets—Favors the Regulation of Interstate Freight Rates.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The National board of trade at its afternoon session Wednesday passed a resolution reaffirming its previous action on the subject of pooling railroad rates and the adjustment of indebtedness of the Pacific railroads to the government.

Next, on the suggestion of the Chicago board of trade, the following resolution was adopted: Resolved, That the National board of trade hereby affirm its advocacy of the extension of American commercial relations with foreign countries and urges the enactment of such legislation as shall secure to the United States the incalculable benefits of such relations.

The resolution of American export trade, proposed by the New York board of trade, resulted in the following resolution being unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the National board of trade calls attention with pleasure to the gratifying increase in our export trade during the past year, and especially in manufactured products, which embody not only the use of American raw materials, but the employment of American labor.

The quality and utility of American products are recognized wherever they are known. The ingenuity of our inventors has produced thousands of articles of superior economy and convenience, which, if intelligently placed on the market, would find ready sale in all the world.
